About Bengal Urological Society

Bengal Urological Society has a rich heritage background inherited from Urology Association, Calcutta. It was the Association of Surgeons of India from where a section of surgeons specialized in urology, formed Calcutta Urology Association in 1965. The first Chairman was Dr. K K Ghosh and first Secretary was Dr. Himadri Kumar Sarkar. Because of their relentless effort, Urology Association, Calcutta was formed and its first conference was held on 20 and 21 August 1965 along with the regional body of Association of Surgeons of India. In course of time, the association expanded to whole of Bengal and then Bengal Urological Society was formed in 2005. The society is registered on 23.11.2005 by Govt. of West Bengal.

About Host City

Kolkata

Kolkata: The Cultural and Historical Capital of India

Kolkata, often referred to as the City of Joy, is a city steeped in history, culture, and tradition. Located on the eastern banks of the Hooghly River, Kolkata is the capital of West Bengal and holds a significant place in India's historical and cultural narrative.

Historical Significance

- Old Capital of India: Kolkata served as the capital of British India from 1772 to 1911, playing a central role in the colonial administration and trade. This historical legacy is evident in its grand colonial architecture, museums, and institutions.
- Cultural Renaissance: The city was a hub of the Indian Renaissance and the freedom struggle, producing luminaries like Rabindranath Tagore, Swami Vivekananda, and Subhas Chandra Bose.

Transport Heritage

- Trams: Kolkata is the only Indian city with an operational tram system, which has been running since 1873, offering a nostalgic charm to the modern city.
- Oldest Metro: The Kolkata Metro, inaugurated in 1984, is India's first metro railway, reflecting the city's progressive outlook.
- Hand-Pulled Rickshaws: A unique feature of Kolkata, these rickshaws are a reminder of the city's old-world charm.

Culinary Delights

- Sweets: Kolkata is synonymous with its sweets, particularly Rosogolla, Sandesh, and Mishti Doi. These delicacies are integral to Bengali hospitality and celebrations.
- Street Food: The city is famous for its street food, including Puchkas, Kathi Rolls, and Jhal Muri, offering a burst of flavors.

Cultural Vibrancy

- Durga Puja: The annual Durga Puja is Kolkata's most celebrated festival, showcasing grand decorations, cultural performances, and culinary extravaganzas.
- Literature and Art: Home to the Bengali film industry (Tollywood) and the Kolkata International Film Festival, the city celebrates its literary and artistic heritage with events like the Kolkata Book Fair.

Educational and Scientific Hub

Kolkata hosts prestigious institutions like Presidency University, Jadavpur University, and the Indian Statistical Institute. It is also home to the Indian Museum, the oldest museum in India, and the Botanical Gardens, famous for the Great Banyan Tree.

Economic and Industrial Importance

Kolkata is an important commercial and financial hub in eastern India. The Port of Kolkata is the oldest operational port in India, playing a crucial role in trade and commerce.

A City of Contrasts

Kolkata beautifully blends the old with the new, from its colonial buildings and bustling markets to its modern IT parks and malls. It is a city where tradition meets innovation, making it a unique and fascinating destination.

Kolkata's rich history, cultural vibrancy, and warm hospitality continue to captivate visitors and residents alike, making it a true reflection of India's diverse heritage.

Kolkata Rich Delicacy

Here are some of the most Kolkata famous dishes that you can try out on your next visit to the city:
